POLL BOOKS INDICATE MAJORITY

Chairman Anderson Thinks Regular Republican Ticket Will Go Through.

GOOD SHOWING INDICATED

Nearly all of the poll books have been received by Chairman A. H. Anderson of the Washington county Republican organization. The books indicate that the regular Republican ticket will go through this time by the unusual large majority, and that the voters are paying but little attention to the outside issues that some would have injected into the campaign.

"The returns from the different committeemen through the county, said Chairman Anderson," are very encouraging, and if we get anything like the figures indicate, we will make a better showing than usual.

"While there has always been a number of doubtful voters, as has heretofore been shown by the poll-books, there is of course this same element this time, but a comparison with like returns received previous to other elections shown that there has not been any increase of the voters of ths class.

"While we expect more of the doubtful element to come over to the Republican ticket than to the opposition, it is certainly true that one half of them will support out ticket and this on the face of the returns would give us an excellent lead. Apparently the Roosevelt policy seems to be satisfying to the voters of Washington county.

"J. K. Tener for congress will have an astonishing majority in the district. As far as the balance of the ticket in this county is concerned the returns show there will not be any desertions aside from the disgruntled element that always springs up after an aggressive contest and the people are acquainted with them.

"The candidates on the Republican ticket for assembly are espe ially strong in their own precincts and localities and it is a well-known fact that this is always an excellent tribute to the men thus honored, as the home vote always certifies to the character of the candidate."

BILL OF COMPLAINT AGAINST WATER COMPANY

John Zanardelli yesterday filed a bill of complaint against the Monongahela Water company. Zanardelli owns a house in West Monongahela and alleges that on September 23, 1909, the company without any cause shut the water off. On October 9, the plaintiff claims he made a tender of three months rental in advance which was refused. It is averred that the refusal to furnish him with water has worked damage, injury, inconvenence and annoyance. The court set Monday at 10:30 as the time for a hearing.

THREE MEN IN JAIL AT GREENSBURG WILL BE BROUGHT TO THIS COUNTY

Charged With Having Committed Burglary In Fallowfield Township On August 10th---Detective McCleary On Case.

John Stephenson, John Burner and Thomas Sheets, who are charged with the crimes of burglarly and larceny, committed in Fallowfield township on August 10 last, and who are at present serving time in the Westmoreland county on charges of carrying concealed weapons, will soon be brought to Washington county to answer to the former charges before Justice E. N. Dunlap, at the county seat, before whom information was made on Augu ts 18.

The details of the crime, for which the trio of alleged offenders will answer, were published in the Mail at the time. Mrs. Clara DeGarmo's home was visited by three burglars on the night of August 10. She was gagged and securely bound by the three intruders, who ransacked the house, securing two gold watches and chains, valued at $150; a gold necklace and three rings of the value of $20 and $20 in money.

Through the work of Detective McCleary, clues leading to the identification of the above defendants were followed until the officer located them at Greensburg, where they were serving time in jail. Informations were made against the three prisoners by Detective McCleary before Justice Dunlap. As the Greensburg sentence has about expired, Detective McCleary will be on hand to bring the three men to this county for trial.

Detective McCleary was in Washington yesterday and secured warrants for the three. It is said damaging evidence against them will be forthcoming.

TAXPAYERS ARE DETERMINED TO LEARN TRUTH

The directors of the poor of Washington county intend to make a complete investigation of the charges made by the Taxpayers league against Superintendent Dodds of the County home. The board have placed the matter in the hands of its attorney and in a few days it will determine the course of action which will be pursued in making this investigation. For some time the Taxpayers' league has been making investigations as to the conduct of the superintendent and it is alleged that certain irregularities in the conduct of the office, nothing short of crminal have taken place there, which demand a change in the business of this office and perhaps criminal action.

W. M. Courson, president of the bard of directors, said yesteday that the board intended to make a full investigation of the charges—that the members intend to be fair to Mr. Dodds, to the Taxpayers league and to the taxpayers themselves.

"The matter," said he, "is one that require serious consideration. The board will take up the matter fairly and impartially.

COAL CENTRE MAN HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

An engine on the P. V. and C. railroad at the crossing below Coal Center running backward last evenng about 4:30 o'clock crashed into a team of horses drawing a large wagon loaded with empty beer kegs. The heavy locomotive struck the team and both horses were killed instantly. The wagon tongue was cut squarely off. George Komp, the owner and driver of the team escaped injury by jumping.

The driver of the wagon did not see the heavy locomotive until too late to avoid an accident. With the exception of the tongue the wagon was not damaged. Had Komp remained on the wagon he would not have been hurt as not a single keg was thrown off.

Komp, who resides at Phillipsburg, has been employed for sometime by the Lucyville brewery.

FORMER WASHINGTON COUNTY MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO BIGAMY CHARGE

Was Discharged On Assault And Battery Charge In Court Of This County---Arrested In Pittsburg.

Following his being cleared of a charge of assault and battery in the Washington county courts George D. Cunningham, formerly of Cokeburg, pleaded guilty to the charge of bigamy before the courts of Allegheny county yesterday. He said he eloped with Jean Russell, a pretty telephone girl of Sewickley, in 1905. He said that in 1890 he was married to a woman in Uniontown and has lived with her until 1896. He claimed they could not get along together and he left on account of her conduct. He claims to have received a letter stating that his first wife was dead before he married Miss Russell

He said he afterward learned that wife No. 1 was still living and that he told his second wife of the matter but that she declared they would live together if he promised not to tell her mother. Then they moved to Cokeburg where Cunningham alleges misconduct on the part of his wife.

His second wife's mother declared he never supported his wife nor their three children and when he, upon leaving to take up a year's sentence in the workhouse, endeavored to imprint a kiss upon the forehead of his four-year-old daughter, she leaped forward and seizing Cunningham by the shoulder pulled him away roughly, exclaiming, "You get out of here, a man who don't keep her can't touch her."

Cunningham averred that while they were living at Cokeburg his Sewickley wife was writing to other men and claiming to be a single woman. He said he found a number of postal cards received from other men and then left her.

GIRL LOST MIND OVER WEDDING POSTPONED

Minnie Breathwaite, a 19 year old West Newton girl, has been committed to the insane department of the county home, of Westmoreland county, having lost her reason, it is said, over the interruption of her wedding plans. She and Robert Neff, of Suterville, had planned to go to Youngstown, O., to have the knot tied. For some reason they missed the train at Pittsburg and returned to Suterville. Since then the girl has been acting strangely and has become violent.

It was while working at a hotel in Suterville that she and young Neff became acquainted and planned an elopement.

J. A. Odbert, who for several months has been connected with the Arcade theatre at Brownsville, has disposed of his interests there and yesterday returned with his family to Charleroi.

The marriage of Mr. Russell Metz has been announced, the event to take place next week.

William Crawford of Brownsville is a visitor today in Charleroi.

WILL HOLD OPEN AIR SERVICES ON STREET TONIGHT

Evangelist E. E. Hendrick and singer Mr. A. L. Carter, in the first of their week evening meetings, attracted quite a large number last night. The services were intensely interesting. Thirty minutes of song and praise service was in charge of Mr. Carter. Revival hymns were used. Mr. Carter sang a few solus. He has a splendid voice, of wide range, and is at home either in chorus solo or duet work.

Rev. Hendrick took for his subject, "Consecration," taking his text from 1st Chronicles, 22-5. He said that it was the imperative duty of a man or woman who were desirous of leading a Christian life, of consecrating themselves entirely to Christ, and made the statement that the Lord is not satisfied with half-hearted service. The latter part of his discourse was taken up by a discussion of the opportunity which is offered Christians for helping others consecrate themselves.

An open air meeting will be held at 7 o'clock tonight on Fifth street either at Fallowfield or McKean avenue. Mr. Carter will sing and Rev. Hendrick will speak briefly.

FIRST CLASS HIGHWAY TO WASHINGTON

Active Ones In Good Roads Movement Hope For Much.

SOMERSET TO FRONT

Those who are active in good roads movement in this section, are now proposing to connect Washington and Charleroi by a first class highway, by the Bentleyville route. The state has already built three miles of good road from Charleroi up Maple creek and another section of three and one-half miles which will carry the road to the Bentleyville borough line is ready for bidders. The part of the road from the Bentleyville line, down to the village and thence south is now being constructed.

The residents of Somerset township have awakened to the needs of good roads and accordingly have petitioned for the building by the state of the portion of the Washington and Bentleyville road which is within the limits of Somerset township.

It is thought the petition will be favorably acted upon, and if so will go a great ways toward the proposed Charleroi-Washington highway.

Should Monday or Saturday Be Holiday In School

The literary work has been made an adjunct to the High school course and pupils now receive grades for that part. Yesterday a session of the literary society was held. A unique subject was debated upon, it being, "Resolved, that Monday instead of Saturay should be observed as a holiday in our school." John Martin and Miss Hazel Ream upheld the affirmative and Miss Anna Rockwell and Robert Jones the negative. The debate was decided in favor of the former. Their main argument was that Monday rather than Saturday, be observed as a holiday, for the reason that if it was not pupils would study on the Sabbath; also that they could help at home better on Monday. The negatives opposed the statements by saying it was contrary to custom. The program follows:

Vocal solo—Margaret Brightwell.
Recitation—Helen Keehan.
Essay—Anna McCann.
Original Oration—Harold Smith.
Piano solo—Neva Brown.
Essay—Raymond Lowstutter.
Recitation—Roy Clelland.
Essay—Della Jacobs.

Committees from both the German Beneficial Union and the Monessen Turn Verein were present together with many out of town guests and officials.

The German-American Alliance is now spread over the entire United States and is becoming a power as a social and political factor.

It is made up of almost all of the different German societies in existance in this country. Officers were elected and candidates were endorsed for support at the coming election.

SUES PITTSBURG COAL COMPANY FOR DAMAGES

Victor Deboe, in a suit filed yesterday afternoon, claims of the Pittsburg Coal company damages in the sum of $15,000. Birch and M'Creight represent the plaintiff. The amount is claimed by reason of injuries received while at work in the Creedmore mine. Negligence on the part of the defendant company is alleged.

The accident in which the plaintiff was injured occurred on April 19, 1907. At that time the plaintiff avers he was engaged in hauling out pit cars loaded with coal and hauling in the empty cars. While so engaged and while coming down a grade in the mine, with three loaded cars he says he attempted to put a "sprag" or stick into the wheels to brake the cars. The result was, it is claimed, that he was caught between the side of the cars and the rib of projecting coal and badly crushed, cut and bruised about the head and body. From these injuries the plaintiff says he has not yet recovered, has suffered much pain and has expended sums of money in endeavoring to be cured.

The plaintiff avers the company was negligent in not warning him of the steep grade and the narrowness of the entry to passage way, and for the projection of the ribs of coal, and in not having lights at a point, knowing, it is further averred, of all these things. Al these things the plaintiff avers were unknown to him.

Only Chimney Fire.

A fire alarm was sent in from Ninth street and Fallowfield avenue last night near seven o'clock. The firemen received word, however, before they had left the fire house, that the flames were out, it only being a chimney fire.

Two women, Miss Miller and Miss Uptecraft last evennig at the corner of Sixth street became engaged in a dispute, which ended in hair pulling and blows, and it is said the former landed with her fist on Miss Uptecraft's physiognomy and put her down and out. Information was made before Justice Wilson against Miss Miller and she will be given a hearing later.

Bryan Unfitted for the Presidency.

His speeches in New York raise the suspicion that he wants to lull the country's financial center into the belief that it is a new and reformed Bryan whom it encounters in 1908. This made it especially necessary for him to drop his old wild air, and to steer clear of all his radical and revolutionary ideas of former canvasses. But has he ever renounced a single one of his destructionist doctrines of those days? Has he ever said that free silver, free riot, government ownership and operation of the railways or any other of his fads, remote or recent, was wrong? If Bryan has ever made any such recantation the general public has never heard of it.

Some men when they take the wrong side of a question confess their error when they see it. Others, while declining to make any public confession of error, oppose it when they are convinced of error. But Bryan neither renounces nor opposes. He merely dodges. There is not a human being in the United States who imagines Bryan ever thought his position on silver was wrong. Circumstances compel him to drop silver, for the moment, to take it up again when the conditions permit him to give it some attention.

For this reason the query which is put to Mr. Bryan has a practical importance. If, by any fatality, he should be elected President and the treasury's gold fund and the treasury's income from customs and internal taxes would unquestionably decrease, the gold fund would soon drop below the danger line, and then the issue of whether Bryan would defend or destroy the gold standard would be upon the country.

A few weeks ago, when many reasons were pointed out why every business man in the United States should vote against Mr. Bryan, he responded thus: "Every man who is engaged in a work which is useful to society is a business man; every man who contributes, by brain or muscle, to the nation's wealth or the nation's progress is a business man. Can it be said that all who are engaged in any honorable or helpful work have a vital concern in the defeat of the Democratic party?" That definition of business men is accepted, and a question asked if there is a business man in the country who thinks that a person who has put forward the destructive doctrines which Mr. Bryan has advocated for many years, and who has never renounced a single one of them, is a fit person to be chosen President of the United States in this crisis.

A Worthy Effort

"Getting at the root of matters." That is what is being done by the evangelists who are now in Charleroi to conduct a series of revival meetings. They had been here but a day when they saw a chance to do Christian work such as has never before been attempted by ministers in this place, viz., going to factorys where the bad element is to be found if anywhere, and doing good among the employes. The first attempt yesterday was successful, a great deal more so than a person would suppose. Last winter the Monongahela Y. M. C. A. carried on a similar work in Monongahela and much good was the result. Such an effort needs encouragement.

Mussed Up.

"If one must be fashionable one must be mussed up," says a fashion note.

So don't worry when your best girl comes down the street looking as if she had just been kicked out of a bargain counter scrimmage and don't swear on the way to church with your wife because she reminds you of a concertina bellows. It's all in the game, me boy; it is classy. Paris is responsible for the crinky kink. Starch has not been tolerated in lingerie gowns over there for sometime now, and as it has been impossible to keep an unstarched gown uncrinkled for more than fifteen minutes the fair Parisienne has decided not to bother, but to stand patron her wrinkles.

Frankly we don't like it, no matter whether the idea comes from Paris or Belle Vernon. We would prefer to see our girls as trim as cup racers instead of appearing as if they had arisen from a ten hour session at poker. Any number of men can tell you how much they have become mussed up after one of the sessions aforesaid, notwithstanding the fact they also got a dressing down.

If the new fashion illustrations are to be believed, it won't be so much a question of making the gown to fit the girl as of making the girl to fit the gown.

Donora, Oct. 13.—At eight o'clock on Saturday evening, October 10th, Mr. John Huston and Miss Agnes Cose, of Donora were untied in marriage at the home of Matthew Huston.

He was a prominent farmer of Amwell township and a member of Co. A, 22nd cavalry Ringgold Battalon.

Murdocksville, Oct. 12.—Robert Withrow, an aged and respected resident and a veteran of the Civil war is dead at his late home in this place after a weeks' illness. He was aged 73 years. Funeral services will be held on Monday at 2 o'clock from the Robinson United Presbyterian church of which he was a member. The interment will be made in the Robison United Presbyterian cemetery. Mr. Withrow enlisted in Company A. of the 17th Pennsylvania cavalry in August, 1862, and continued in the service until the close of the war. He took an active part in all the important engagements in the Army of the Potomac and won distinction on many battlefields.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Steve Vargo, a Hungarian, entered a plea of guilty yesterday to the charge of obtaining goods and money by false pretense. He was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $10 and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a period of three months. Vargo comes from Canonsburg, where he came about a year ago. The money and goods he obtained by representing himself to be another foreigner named J. Sabo, whose pass book on the Pittsburg bank he presented, and upon which he gave checks and secured money. It developed later that Vargo had stolen the book from Sabo in Pittsburg.

Nearly every man who works steadily makes more than a living. During these slow times the men who have saved something appreciate what it is to have something laid away for a rainy day. A few cents a day soon counts up, and when savings are placed in a bank at a tidy interest the sum soon grows to proportions that make it a safeguard against want when work is not plentiful. The Schemer And the Widow.

By WILLIAM H. HAMBY.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

"Well, Jerry," I asked, "how did the advertising phonographs come out? Did they cough up any dough?"

Milsap stretched himself wearily in an easy chair before the fire and stroked his drooping brown mustache sadly for a minute without replying. I had not seen him before for two years and knew that he was just floundering out of the slough of despondency which always lay between the end of one of his schemes and the beginning of another.

"The fact is, George," he said regretfully, "that was a fine idea. It would have been the biggest thing you ever heard of if it hadn't been for one thing. Just when we were ready to do business the music trust busted"—

"Yes, yes, I understand, Jerry," I interrupted. Somewhere a cog slipped, and something went 'zip!' It always does, Jerry. There is only one thing wrong with your schemes: there is always one more cog in your wheel than in the track you run on, and you get bumped."

Milsap looked so sad that I almost regretted my flippant remarks. His last scheme had been to scatter phonographs that advertised a noted breakfast food by song and story. The manufacturer, according to Jerry's plan, was to pay so much for each record put in circulation, and the only drawback had been he would not do it.

But Jerry rallied directly.

"I tell you, Monegan, I've got the scheme this time—it will make coin, you bet—the greatest scheme you ever heard of, and it will give value received too."

IT CONTAINED A SMALL PICTURE OF THE TWO BOYS.

"Well?" I asked dubiously.

"It's a correspondence school," he said, gripping my knee and peering into my face like an encyclopedia agent.

"On the ground too late, Jerry," I said. "There is already a correspondence course covering every field of learning and endeavor, from the art of making perfect candy to the science of not stammering."

"That's it exactly," he exclaimed: "there is a school for everything but one, and that thing is the most important of all. It touches almost every family in this great land and is a question of great perplexity, of vital importance, of burning interest"— He paused to gather breath.

"What is it?" I demanded.

"Raising boys," he answered triumphantly. "I will start a correspondence school to teach people how to raise boys. You see, I want to specialize at first, but may branch out and include girls later.

"But just now it is the problem of the boy that is keeping parents all over the land awake at nights and bringing their prematurely gray hairs down to sorrow and hard work. Look at the interest in the courts and newspapers and magazines in this boy question. Now is the time to strike.

"The course will embrace every step from the cradle to the United States senate and will cost only $5. Think of it! Don't you see how it will appeal? Why, one doctor's bill would cost that, one fine for shooting craps, the telegrams to locate a single runaway."

He gazed into the fire for a time, and I knew by the way the corners of his mustache began to lift the idea was still expanding.

"You see," he continued, "our patronage will not be confined to parents of boys. We will sell a great many courses to young people and old maids. The best recommendation for matrimony any one can have will be one of our diplomas. In fact, I may be able to get laws passed requiring a certificate of graduation from my school before a marriage license will be issued."

* * * * * * *

In due time there appeared in many publications a striking advertisement of "Professor Jerry Milsap's How to Raise Boys Correspondence School."

About six months later Jerry came to see me again.

"I am bothered about help," he explained, "and I came to see, Monegan, if you would consent to take charge of the detective department. You are not a detective, of course, but you can do the work. All you have to do is explain to parents actions of their boys which they do not understand and teach them how to predict from certain signs, hoots and preparations what the boys intend to do."

I consented to try it and thereby lifted a load off Jerry's mind. The concern, he told me, was very promising. More than 200 students had already been enrolled, and many inquiries were coming in by every mail. It was to answering inquiries that Jerry devoted himself—that was why he needed help.

At the end of the week he wanted me to take charge of the moral and educational departments also and promised me a big salary. I consented.

Usually I had little trouble in answering any inquiries that came to my department, but one day I had a letter from a woman in Kansas which I thought best to pass up to Jerry, the fountain head of wisdom.

There were two sons, the woman wrote, one six, the other eight. She was young and inexperienced when she married and since her husband's death had tried to manage a 500 acre farm and raise the boys at the same time. Then she asked many difficult questions.

It was a well written letter, sincere and appealing, and left the impression that here was a brave woman trying cheerfully to carry burdens too heavy for one human being.

Jerry read the letter, sat biting the ends of his mustache for an hour and then dictated a lengthy reply.

In a few days she wrote again. The letter was full of gratitude to the professor for his help and asked many other questions, all bright and pointed. Jerry went to the typewriter and answered that one himself.

Letters came quite regularly after that, and I turned them unopened over to Jerry. Once only did I open one, and that before I recognized the postmark. It contained a small picture of the two boys taken with their mother. I am not much of a judge, but the boys looked first rate to me, and the woman looked bright and energetic and, I was sure, had glorious red hair.

The next morning Jerry came to my desk as I was closing it for the night.

"Monegan," he said very soberly, "this Kansas case interests me very much."

"Is that so?" I said, quite as soberly.

"It is a case that I must work out successfully," he said earnestly. "My professional reputation is at stake. I think I had better run out there and see those boys personally. Can you manage affairs until I return?"

I thought I could, and he went Saturday.

* * * * * * *

He did not return. I settled up the business, and there was enough to pay all debts, even including my salary.

Mrs. Jerry wrote me when I sent the final report. She said she was writing, as her husband was too tired to write. It was a very nice letter. She thanked me for the way I had managed the affairs, invited me to visit them, and added: "We are very happy and getting along fine. I find it no trouble to manage now that I have some one to carry out my plans, and Jerry is the best hand to carry out plans I ever saw."

A Girl's View of It.

"We were late," groaned the girl, who was tired, "because we went fifteen blocks out of our way."

"Why did you do that?" asked her brother. "Why didn't you keep your eyes open and take the right car?"

"I did," said the girl, "I knew which way to go, but my escort got confused, and I didn't dare put him on the right track. If I had he never would have forgiven me. I have lost the friendship of three interesting men by that very evidence of strong mindedness. Experience has taught me that next to being caught in a fib the thing that most rifles a man is to be guided by a woman. To wander around like a babe in the woods, to retrace his steps a dozen times and finally to arrive somewhere an hour late are blunders that he can cover up with one excuse or another, but for a woman to take the lead and say 'We want this car' or 'We must go this way' presupposes a state of lamentable ignorance on his part and makes him hate that woman forevermore."—New York Press.

Wasted Royal Effort.

The king of Wurttemberg while out motoring in the country with the Grand Duke Adolphus of Mecklenburg saw coming toward him a cart drawn by a white horse in which were seated a sturdy old peasant and his wife. As the motor car approached the white horse became very restive, pranced, reared and finally fell down on the roadway. The king and the grand duke immediately ordered the chauffeur to stop and, getting down from the car, went to the assistance of the fallen animal. Meanwhile the two old peasants sat stolidly in the cart and made not the slightest effort to raise the horse. The grand duke seized the creature's head, and the king proceeded to loosen the traces. After a good deal of trouble the horse was got upon its legs again and reharnessed, and then the grand duke addressed the old man in the cart. "There," he said, handing him a coin, "it's all right now, my good man. You can go and tell your friends that the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg picked up your horse and that the king of Wurttemberg helped him." The peasant bit the coin to see if it was good and then replied: "Ye might have saved yourselves all this trouble, for my old horse always lays down when he hears one of those horrid motor cars coming. But as soon as it's past he gets up again of his own accord."—Bellman.

He meant quite well
It was perfectly well meant,

But he meant quite well.

SKIN TORTURES

Thousands of wretched people are miserable—driven almost mad by the terrible itching and burning sensation of Eczema and other skin diseases; many imagine they are suffering from bad blood, when as a matter of fact the blood has nothing to do with it. These awful tortures are caused by little germs that attack the skin externally, which can be rooted out in a hurry, leaving the skin clear, soft and healthy. Such misery now cleared away as surely as the sun shines above. Not merely attempted, not a matter of improvement merely, not a temporary relief—but a clearing of it all away absolutely and permanently.

THE D. D. D. PRESCRIPTION

a specific formula, put up in sealed bottles with authentic label, has proven to be the only certain cure for these diseases. Its record of cures is astonishing, amazing, almost miraculous. It is a liquid, used externally, non-greasy.

Cleansed within one month.

For a number of years my husband has been suffering with a terrible case of eczema. He had doctored with the best skin specialists in the city, but they could not even stop the itching. I was told by a friend of the D. D. D. treatment and began using it at once; the first few applications eased the itching, and in a month's time his flesh was as clear as could be.

Yours truly,

HAD QUIT WORK
READY TO GIVE UP IN DESPAIR
Restored to Health By Vinol

"I was sick, run-down and finally had to give up work. After trying a number of remedies and several physicians, I was just about ready to give up in despair. I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it, and it has done more good for me than all other means combined. It has built me up and restored my strength until I now feel twenty years younger, and am able to attend to my work again as usual." Job Jeavons, 1036 Lind street, Wheeling, W. Va.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains tonic iron and all of the strengthening blood-making and body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

Vinol is unexcelled as a strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness—and is the best known remedy for coughs, colds and bronchitis.

We return your money if Vinol fails to give satisfaction.

POLL BOOKS INDICATE MAJORITY

Chairman Anderson Thinks Regular Republican Ticket Will Go Through.

GOOD SHOWING INDICATED

Nearly all of the poll books have been received by Chairman A. H. Anderson of the Washington county Republican organization. The books indicate that the regular Republican ticket will go through this time by the unusual large majority, and that the voters are paying but little attention to the outside issues that some would have injected into the campaign.

"The returns from the different committeemen through the county, said Chairman Anderson," are very encouraging, and if we get anything like the figures indicate, we will make a better showing than usual.

"While there has always been a number of doubtful voters, as has heretofore been shown by the poll-books, there is of course this same element this time, but a comparisen with like returns received previous to other elections shown that there has not been any increase of the voters of ths class.

"While we expect more of the doubtful element to come over to the Republican ticket than to the opposition, it is certainly true that one half of them will support out ticket and this on the face of the returns would give us an excellent lead. Apparently the Roosevelt policy seems to be satisfying to the voters of Washington county.

"J. K. Tener for congress will have an astonishing majority in the district. As far as the balance of the ticket in this county is concerned the returns show there will not be any desertions aside from the disgruntled element that always springs up after an aggressive contest and the people are acquainted with them.

"The candidates on the Republican ticket for assembly are espe ially strong in their own precincts and localities and it is a well-known fact that this is always an excellent tribute to the men thus honored, as the home vote always certifies to the character of the candidate."

BILL OF COMPLAINT AGAINST WATER COMPANY

John Zanardelli yesterday filed a bill of complaint against the Monongahela Water company. Zanardelli owns a house in West Monongahela and alleges that on September 23, 1909, the company without any cause shut the water off. On October 9, the plaintiff claims he made a tender of three months rental in advance which was refused. It is averred that the refusal to furnish him with water has worked damage, injury, inconvenence and annoyance. The court set Monday at 10:30 as the time for a hearing.

THREE MEN IN JAIL AT GREENSBURG WILL BE BROUGHT TO THIS COUNTY

Charged With Having Committed Burglary In Fallowfield Township On August 10th—Detective McCleary On Case.

John Stephenson, John Burner and Thomas Sheets, who are charged with the crimes of burglarly and larceny, committed in Fallowfield township on August 10 last, and who are at present serving time in the Westmoreland county on charges of carrying concealed weapons, will soon be brought to Washington county to answer to the former charges before Justice E. N. Dunlap, at the county seat, before whom information was made on August 18.

The details of the crime, for which the trio of alleged offenders will answer, were published in the Mail at the time. Mrs. Clara DeGarmo's home was visited by three burglars on the night of August 10. She was gagged and securely bound by the three intruders, who ransacked the house, securing two gold watches and chains, valued at $150; a gold necklace and three rings of the value of $20 and $20 in money.

Through the work of Detective McCleary, clues leading to the identification of the above defendants were followed until the three were found at Greensburg, where they were serving time in jail. Informations were made against the three prisoners by Detective McCleary before Justice Dunlap. As the Greensburg sentence has about expired, Detective McCleary will be on hand to bring the three men to this county for trial.

Detective McCleary was in Washington yesterday and secured warrants for the three. It is said damaging evidence against them will be forthcoming.

FORMER WASHINGTON COUNTY MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO BIGAMY CHARGE

Was Discharged On Assault And Battery Charge In Court Of This County—Arrested In Pittsburg.

Following his being cleared of a charge of assault and battery in the Washington county courts George D. Cunningham, formerly of Cokeburg, pleaded guilty to the charge of bigamy before the courts of Allegheny county yesterday. He said he eloped with Jean Russell, a pretty telephone girl of Swissvale, in 1890. He said that in 1890 he was married to a woman in Uniontown and has lived with her until 1896. He claimed they could not get along together and he left on account of her conduct. He claims to have received a letter stating that his first wife was dead before he married Miss Russell.

He said he afterward learned that wife No. 1 was still living and that he told his second wife of the matter but that she declared they would live together if he promised not to tell her mother. Then they moved to Cokeburg where Cunningham alleges misconduct on the part of his wife.

His second wife's mother declared he never supported his wife nor their three children and when he, upon leaving to take up a year's sentence in the workhouse, endeavored to im- four-year-old daughter, she leaped forward and seizing Cunningham by the shoulder pulled him away roughly, exclaiming, "You get out of here, a man who don't keep her can't touch her."

Cunningham averred that while they were living at Cokeburg his Sewickley wife was writing to other men and claiming to be a single woman. He said he found a number of postal cards received from other men and then left her.

FIRST CLASS HIGHWAY TO WASHINGTON

Active Ones In Good Roads Movement Hope For Much.

SOMERSET TO FRONT

Those who are active in good roads movement in this section, are now proposing to connect Washington and Charleroi by a first class highway, by the Bentleyville route. The state has already built three miles of good road from Charleroi up Maple creek and another section of three and one-half miles which will carry the road to the Bentleyville borough line is ready for bidders. The part of the road from the Bentleyville line, down to the village and thence south is now being constructed.

The residents of Somerset township have awakened to the needs of good roads and accordingly have petitioned for the building by the state of the portion of the Washington and Bentleyville road which is within the limits of Somerset township.

It is thought the petition will be favorably acted upon, and if so will go a great ways toward the proposed Charleroi-Washington highway.

TAXPAYERS ARE DETERMINED TO LEARN TRUTH

The directors of the poor of Washington county intend to make a complete investigation of the charges made by the Taxpayers league against Superintendent Dodds of the County home. The board have placed the matter in the hands of its attorney and in a few days it will determine the course of action which will be pursued in making this investigation. For some time the Taxpayers' league has been making investigations as to the conduct of the superintendent and it is alleged that certain irregularities in the conduct of the office, nothing short of crminal have taken place there, which demand a change in the business of this office and perhaps criminal action.

W. M. Courson, president of the bard of directors, said yesteday that the board intended to make a full investigation of the charges—that the members intend to be fair to Mr. Dodds, to the Taxpayers league and to the taxpayers themselves.

"The matter," said he, "is one that require serious consideration. The board will take up the matter fairly and impartially.

COAL CENTRE MAN HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

An engine on the P. V. and C. railroad at the crossing below Coal Center running backward last evening about 4:30 o'clock crashed into a team of horses drawing a large wagon loaded with empty beer kegs. The heavy locomotive struck the team and both horses were killed instantly. The wagon tongue was cut squarely off. George Komp, the owner and driver of the team escaped injury by jumping.

The driver of the wagon did not see the heavy locomotive until too late to avoid an accident. With the exception of the tongue the wagon was not damaged. Had Komp remained on the wagon he would not have been hurt as not a single keg was thrown off.

Komp, who resides at Phillipsburg, has been employed for sometime by the Lucyville brewery.

GIRL LOST MIND OVER WEDDING POSTPONED

Minnie Breathwaite, a 19 year old West Newton girl, has been committed to the insane department of the county home, of Westmoreland county, having lost her reason, it is said, over the interruption of her wedding plans. She and Robert Neff, of Suterville, had planned to go to Youngstown, O., to have the knot tied. For some reason they missed the train at Pittsburg and returned to Suterville. Since then the girl has been acting strangely and has become violent.

It was while working at a hotel in Suterville that she and young Neff became acquainted and planned an elopement.

J. A. Odbert, who for several months has been connected with the Arcade theatre at Brownsville, has disposed of his interests there and yesterday returned with his family to Charleroi.

The marriage of Mr. Russell Metz has been announced, the event to take place next week.

William Crawford of Brownsville is a visitor today in Charleroi.

WILL HOLD OPEN AIR SERVICES ON STREET TONIGHT

Evangelist E. E. Hendrick and singer Mr. A. L. Carter, in the first of their week evening meetings, attracted quite a large number last night. The services were intensely interesting. Thirty minutes of song and praise service was in charge of Mr. Carter. Revival hymns were used. Mr. Carter sang a few solos. He has a splendid voice, of wide range, and is at home either in chorus solo or duet work.

Rev. Hendrick took for his subject, "Consecration," taking his text from 1st Chronicles, 22-5. He said that it was the imperative duty of a man or woman who were desirous of leading a Christian life, of consecrating themselves entirely to Christ, and made the statement that the Lord is not satisfied with half-hearted service. The latter part of his discourse was taken up by a discussion of the opportunity which is offered Christians for helping others consecrate themselves.

An open air meeting will be held at 7 o'clock tonight on Fifth street either at Fallowfield or McKean avenue. Mr. Carter will sing and Rev. Hendrick will speak briefly.

Should Monday or Saturday Be Holiday In School

The literary work has been made an adjunct to the High school course and pupils now receive grades for that part. Yesterday a session of the literary society was held. A unique subject was debated upon, it being, "Resolved, that Monday instead of Saturay should be observed as a holiday in our school." John Martin and Miss Hazel Ream upheld the affirmative and Miss Anna Rockwell and Robert Jones the negative. The debate was decided in favor of the former. Their main argument was that Monday rather than Saturday, be observed as a holiday, for the reason that if it was not pupils would study on the Sabbath; also that they could help at home better on Monday. The negatives opposed the statements by saying it was contrary to custom. The program follows:

Vocal solo—Margaret Brightwell.
Recitation—Helen Keehan.
Essay—Anna McCann.
Original Oration—Harold Smith.
Piano solo—Neva Brown.
Essay—Raymond Lowstutter.
Recitation—Roy Clelland.
Essay—Della Jacobs.
Three Minute Address—Charles Lee.
Periodical—Edith Hopkins.
Music, Violin Solo—Prof. Sloan.

Committees from both the German Beneficial Union and the Monessen Turn Verein were present together with many out of town guests and officials.

DOWN AND OUT FOR THE COUNT

Two women, Miss Miller and Miss Uptecraft last evennig at the corner of Sixth street became engaged in a dispute, which ended in hair pulling and blows, and it is said the former landed with her fist on Miss Uptecraft's physiognomy and put her down and out. Information was made before Justice Wilson against Miss Miller and she will be given a hearing later.

It is hoped that a large number of members will be in attendance.

SUES PITTSBURG COAL COMPANY FOR DAMAGES

Victor Deboe, in a suit filed yesterday afternoon, claims of the Pittsburg Coal company damages in the sum of $15,000. Birch and M'Creight represent the plaintiff. The amount is claimed by reason of injuries received while at work in the Creedmore mine. Neglizence on the part of the defendant company is alleged.

The accident in which the plaintiff was injured occurred on April 10, 1907. At that time the plaintiff avers he was engaged in hauling out pit cars loaded with coal and hauling in the empty cars. While so engaged and while coming down a grade in the mine, with three loaded cats he says he attempted to put a "spring" or stick into the wheels to brake the cars. The result was, it is claimed, that he was caught between the side of the cars and the rib of projecting coal and badly crushed, cut and bruised about the head and body. From these injuries the plaintiff says he has not yet recovered, has suffered much pain and has expended sums of money in endeavoring to be cured.

The plaintiff avers the company was negligent in not warning him of the steep grade and the narrowness of the entry to passage way, and for the projection of the ribs of coal, and in not having lights at a point, knowing, it is further averred, of all these things. Al these things the plaintiff avers were unknown to him.

Only Chimney Fire.

A fire alarm was sent in from last night near seven o'clock. The firemen received word, however, before they had left the fire house, that the flames were out, it only being a chimney fire.

Bryan Unfitted for the Presidency.

His speeches in New York raise the suspicion that he wants to lull the country's financial center into the belief that it is a new and reformed Bryan whom it encounters in 1908. This made it especially necessary for him to drop his old wild air, and to steer clear of all his radical and revolutionary ideas of former canvasses. But has he ever renounced a single one of his destructionist doctrines of those days? Has he ever said that free silver, free riot, government ownership and operation of the railways or any other of his fads, remote or recent, was wrong? If Bryan has ever made any such recantation the general public has never heard of it.

Some men when they take the wrong side of a question confess their error when they see it. Others, while declining to make any public confession of error, oppose it when they are convinced of error. But Bryan neither renounces nor opposes. He merely dodges. There is not a human being in the United States who imagines Bryan ever thought his position on silver was wrong. Circumstances compel him to drop silver, for the moment, to take it up again when the conditions permit him to give it some attention.

For this reason the query which is put to Mr. Bryan has a practical importance. If, by any fatality, he should be elected President and the treasury's gold fund and the treasury's income from customs and internal taxes would unquestionably decrease, the gold fund would soon drop below the danger line, and then the issue of whether Bryan would defend or destroy the gold standard would be upon the country.

A few weeks ago, when many reasons were pointed out why every business man in the United States should vote against Mr. Bryan, he responded thus: "Every man who is engaged in a work which is useful to society is a business man; every man who contributes, by brain or muscle, to the nation's wealth or the nation's progress is a business man. Can it be said that all who are engaged in any honorable or helpful work have a vital concern in the defeat of the Democratic party?" That definition of business men is accepted, and a question asked if there is a business man in the country who thinks that a person who has put forward the destructive doctrines which Mr. Bryan has advocated for many years, and who has never renounced a single one of them, is a fit person to be chosen President of the United States in this crisis.

A Worthy Effort.

"Getting at the root of matters." That is what is being done by the evangelists who are now in Charleroi to conduct a series of revival meetings. They had been here but a day when they saw a chance to do Christian work such as has never before been attempted by ministers in this place, viz., going to factorys where the bad element is to be found if anywhere, and doing good among the employes. The first attempt yesterday was successful, a great deal more so than a person would suppose. Last winter the Monongahela Y. M. C. A. carried on a similar work in Monongahela and much good was the result. Such an effort needs encouragement.

Mussed Up.

"If one must be fashionable one must be mussed up," says a fashion note.

So don't worry when your best girl comes down the street looking as if she had just been kicked out of a bargain counter scrimmage and don't swear on the way to church with your wife because she reminds you of a concertina bellows. It's all in the game, me boy; it is classy. Paris is responsible for the crinky kink. Starch has not been tolerated in lingerie gowns over there for sometime now, and as it has been impossible to keep an unstarched gown uncrinkled for more than fifteen minutes the fair Parisienne has decided not to bother, but to stand pat on her wrinkles.

Frankly we don't like it, no matter whether the idea comes from Paris or Belle Vernon. We would prefer to see our girls as trim as cup racers instead of appearing as if they had arisen from a ten hour session at poker. Any number of men can tell you how much they have become mussed up after one of the sessions aforesaid, notwithstanding the fact they also got a dressing down.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The annual color rush between the members of the sophomore and freshmen classes of Washington and Jefferson college was held yesterday morning and was one of the fiercest settos between the two classes ever pulled off here. Donora, Oct. 13.—At eight o'clock on Saturday evening, October 10th, Mr. John Huston and Miss Agnes Cose, of Donora were united in marriage at the home of Matthew Huston.

Mrs. Leah Moninger Frazee, widow of the late Andrew S. Frazee, of Amwell township, died this morning at her home on West Beau street, as a result of a stroke of paralysis, aged about 87 years. With her death there is removed one of the members of an old pioneer family of the county that settled near what are now the villages of Lone Pine, Scenery Hill, Clarktown and Amity, who was a member of the well known Frazee family of this county, died several years ago. He was a prominent farmer of Amwell township and a member of Co. A, 22nd cavalry Ringgold Battalon.

Mordocksville, Oct. 12.—Robert Withrow, an aged and respected resident and a veteran of the Civil war is dead at his late home in this place after a weeks' illness. He was aged 73 years. Funeral services will be held on Monday at 2 o'clock from the Robinson United Presbyterian church of which he was a member. The interment will be made in the Robison United Presbyterian cemetery. Mr. Withrow enlisted in Company A. of the 17th Pennsylvania cavalry in August, 1862, and continued in the service until the close of the war. He took an active part in all the important engagements in the Army of the Potomac and won distinction on many battlefields.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Steve Vargo, a Hungarian, entered a plea of guilty yesterday to the charge of obtaining goods and money by false pretense. He was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $10 and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for a period of three months. Vargo comes from Canonsburg, where he came about a year ago. The money and goods he obtained by representing himself to be another foreigner named J. Sabo, whose pass book on the Pittsburg bank he presented, and upon which he gave checks and secured money. It developed later that Vargo had stolen the book from Sabo in Pittsburg.

The Schemer And the Widow.

By WILLIAM H. HAMBY.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

"Well, Jerry," I asked, "how did the advertising photographs come out? Did they cough up any dough?"

Milsap stretched himself wearily in an easy chair before the fire and stroked his drooping brown mustache sadly for a minute without replying. I had not seen him before for two years and knew that he was just floundering out of the slough of despondency which always lay between the end of one of his schemes and the beginning of another.

"The fact is, George," he said regretfully, "that was a fine idea. It would have been the biggest thing you ever heard of if it hadn't been for one thing. Just when we were ready to do business the music trust busted"—

"Yes, yes, I understand, Jerry," I interrupted. Somewhere a cog slipped, and something went 'zip!' It always does, Jerry. There is only one thing [illegible] ways one more cog in your wheel than in the track you run on, and you get bumped."

Milsap looked so bad that I almost regretted my flippant remarks. His last scheme had been to scatter phonographs that advertised a noted breakfast food by song and story. The manufacturer, according to Jerry's plan, was to pay so much for each record put in circulation, and the only drawback had been he would not do it.

But Jerry rallied directly.

"I tell you, Monegan, I've got the scheme this time. It will make coin,

IT CONTAINED A SMALL PICTURE OF THE TWO BOYS.

you bet—the greatest scheme you ever heard of, and it will give value received too."

"Well?" I asked dubiously.

"It's a correspondence school," he said, gripping my knee and peering into my face like an energetic patent agent.

"On the ground too late, Jerry," I said. "There is already a correspondence course covering every field of learning and endeavor, from the art of making perfect candy to the science of not stammering."

"That's it exactly," he exclaimed; "there is a school for everything but one, and that thing is the most important of all. It touches almost every family in this great land and is a question of great perplexity, of vital importance, of burning interest"— He paused to gather breath.

"What is it?" I demanded.

"Raising boys," he answered triumphantly. "I will start a correspondence school to teach people how to raise boys. You see, I want to specialize at first, but may branch out and include girls later.

"But just now it is the problem of the boy that is keeping parents all over the land awake at nights and bringing their prematurely gray hairs down to sorrow and hard work. Look at the interest in the courts and newspapers and magazines in this boy question. Now is the time to strike.

"The course will embrace every step from the cradle to the United States senate and will cost only $5. Think of it! Don't you see how it will appeal? Why, one doctor's bill would cost that, one fine for shooting craps, the telegrams to locate a single runaway."

He gazed into the fire for a time, and I knew by the way the corners of his mustache began to lift the idea was still expanding.

"You see," he continued, "our patronage will not be confined to parents of boys. We will sell a great many courses to young people and old maids. The best recommendation for matrimony any one can have will be one of our diplomas. In fact, I may be able to get laws passed requiring a certificate of graduation from my school before a marriage license will be issued."

* * * * * * *

In due time there appeared in many publications a striking advertisement of "Professor Jerry Milsap's How to Raise Boys Correspondence School."

About six months later Jerry came to see me again.

"I am bothered about help," he explained, "and I came to see Monegan, if you would consent to take charge of the detective department. You are not a detective, of course, but you can do the work. All you have to do is explain to parents actions of their boys which they do not understand and teach them how to predict from certain signs, hoots and preparations what the boys intend to do."

I consented to try it and thereby lifted a load off Jerry's mind. The concern, he told me, was very promising. More than 200 students had already been enrolled, and many inquiries were coming in by every mail. It was to answering inquiries that Jerry devoted himself—that was why he needed help.

At the end of the week he wanted me to take charge of the moral and educational departments also and promised me a big salary. I consented.

Usually I had little trouble in answering any inquiries that came to my department, but one day I had a letter from a woman in Kansas which I thought best to pass up to Jerry, the fountain head of wisdom.

There were two sons, the woman wrote, one six, the other eight. She was young and inexperienced when she married and since her husband's death had tried to manage a 300 acre farm and raise the boys at the same time. Then she asked many difficult [illegible]

It was a well written letter, sincere and appealing, and left the impression that here was a brave woman trying cheerfully to carry burdens too heavy for one human being.

Jerry read the letter, sat biting the ends of his mustache for an hour and then dictated a lengthy reply.

In a few days she wrote again. The letter was full of gratitude to the professor for his help and asked many other questions, all bright and pointed. Jerry went to the typewriter and answered that one himself.

Letters came quite regularly after that, and I turned them unopened over to Jerry. Once only did I open one, and that before I recognized the postmark. It contained a small picture of the two boys taken with their mother. I am not much of a judge, but the boys looked first rate to me, and the woman looked bright and energetic and, I was sure, had glorious red hair.

The next morning Jerry came to my desk as I was closing it for the night.

"Monegan," he said very soberly, "this Kansas case interests me very much."

"Is that so?" I said, quite as soberly. "It is a case that I must work out successfully," he said earnestly. "My professional reputation is at stake. I think I had better run out there and see those boys personally. Can you manage affairs while I return?"

I thought I could, and he went Saturday.

* * * * * * *

He did not return. I settled up the business, and there was enough to pay all debts, even including my salary.

Mrs. Jerry wrote me when I sent the final report. She said she was writing, as her husband was too tired to write. It was a very nice letter. She thanked me for the way I had managed the affairs, invited me to visit them, and added: "We are very happy and getting along fine. I find it no trouble to manage now that I have some one to carry out my plans, and Jerry is the best hand to carry out plans I ever saw."

A Girl's View of It.

"We were late," groaned the girl who was tired, "because we went fifteen blocks out of our way."

"Why did you do that?" asked her brother. "Why didn't you keep your eyes open and take the right car?"

"I did," said the girl. "I knew which way to go, but my escort got confused, and I didn't dare put him on the right track. If I had he never would have forgiven me. I have lost the friendship of three interesting men by that very evidence of strong mindedness. Experience has taught me that next to being caught in a fib the thing that most riles a man is to be guided by a woman. To wander around like a babe in the woods, to retrace his steps a dozen times and finally to arrive somewhere an hour late are blunders that he can cover up with one excuse or another, but for a woman to take the lead and say 'We want this car' or 'We must go this way' presupposes a state of lamentable ignorance on his part and makes him hate that woman forevermore."—New York Press.

Wasted Royal Effort.

The king of Wurttemberg while out motoring in the country with the Grand Duke Adolphus of Mecklenburg saw coming toward him a cart drawn by a white horse in which were seated a sturdy old peasant and his wife. As the motor car approached the white horse became very restive, pranced, reared and finally fell down on the roadway. The king and the grand duke immediately ordered the chauffeur to stop and, getting down from the car, went to the assistance of the fallen animal. Meanwhile the two old peasants sat stolidly in the cart and made not the slightest effort to raise the horse. The grand duke seized the creature's head, and the king proceeded to loosen the traces. After a good deal of trouble the horse was got upon its legs again and reharnessed, and then the grand duke addressed the old man in the cart. "There," he said, handing him a coin, "it's all right now, my good man. You can go and tell your friends that the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg picked up your horse and that the king of Wurttemberg helped him." The peasant bit the coin to see if it was good and then replied: "Ye might have saved yourselves all this trouble, for my old horse always lays down when he hears one of those horrid motor cars coming. But as soon as it's past he gets up again of his own accord."—Bellman.

He Meant Well.

He meant quite well
It was perfectly well meant,
But the elephant just grabbed him
And then slung him through the tent.
In the ground he made a dent—
Oh, a big one!—where he fell.
He put pepper in the peanuts.

He meant quite well.
He was only rather green

Coquelin's Wish.

Coquelin, the great actor, was melancholy in the midst of his most famous successes. One day he confided his trouble to Schurmann. SKIN TORTURES

Thousands of wretched people are miserable—driven almost mad by the terrible itching and burning sensation of Eczema and other skin diseases; many imagine [illegible] a matter of fact the blood has nothing to do with it. These awful tortures are caused by little germs that attack the skin externally, which can be rooted out in a hurry, leaving the skin clear, soft and healthy. Such misery now cleared away as surely as the sun shines above. Not merely attempted, not a matter of improvement merely, not a temporary relief—but a clearing of it all away absolutely and permanently.

a specific formula, put up in sealed bottles with authentic label, has proven to be the only certain cure for these diseases. Its record of cures is astonishing, amazing, almost miraculous. It is a liquid, used externally, non-greasy.

Cleansed within one month.

For a number of years my husband has been suffering with a terrible case of eczema. He had doctored with the best skin specialists in the city, but they could not even stop the itching. I was told by a friend of the D. D. D. treatment and began using it at once; the first few applications eased the itching, and in a month's time his flesh was as clear as could be.

HAD QUIT WORK READY TO GIVE UP IN DESPAIR Restored to Health By Vinol

"I was sick, run-down and finally had to give up work. After trying a number of remedies and several physicians, I was just about ready to give up in despair. I saw Vinol advertised and decided to try it, and it has done more good for me than all other means combined. It has built me up and restored my strength until I now feel twenty years younger, and am able to attend to my work again as usual." Job Jeavons, 1036 Lind street, Wheeling, W. Va.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains tonic iron and all of the strengthening blood-making and body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

Vinol is unexcelled as a strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness—and is the best known remedy for coughs, colds and bronchitis.

We return your money if Vinol fails to give satisfaction.

Plows In Spain.

In Spain about the only kind of plow in use is a primitive wooden affair with one handle and a tongue. To this is hitched a pair of small oxen or mules yoked up like oxen. The driver rests his right foot on a rear extension to keep the plow from jumping out of the ground, steadying himself by touching his left foot when about to lose his balance.

INTERESTING FACTS

John W. Carroll Offers To Cure Catarrh. The Medicine Costs Nothing if They Fail.

When a medicine effects a cure in 98 per cent. of cases, and when we offer that medicine on our own personal guarantee that it will cost the user nothing if it does not cure Catarrh, it is only reasonable that people should believe us, or at least put our claim to a practical test when we take all the risk. These are facts which we want the people of Charleroi to substantiate. We want them to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, a medicine prepared from a prescription of a physician whose specialty was Catarrh, and who has a record of thirty years of cures to his credit.

We sell more bottles and receive more good reports about Rexall Mucu-Tone than we do of all other remedies sold in our store, and if more people only knew what a thoroughly dependable remedy Rexall Mucu-Tone is, it would be the only catarrh medicine we would have any demand for.

Rexall Mucu-Tone is quicky absorbed and carried by the blood until thoroughly disinfects and cleanses the entire mucousmembranous tract, destroys and removes the parasites which injure and destroy the membranous tissues, soothes and heals the irritation and soreness, stops the mucous discharge, and builds up strong, healthy tissue, relieves the blood and system of diseased matter, stimulates the muco-cells, aids digestion and improves nutrition until the whole body vibrates with healthy activity. In a comparatively short time there is a most noticeable gain in weight, strength, good color and feeling of buoyancy.

We are ready to try Mucu-Tone, beginning a treatment today. At any time you are not satisfied, simply come and tell us, and we will quickly return your money without quibble or quibble. We have Rexal Mucu-Tone in two sizes, 50c and $1.00.
